Good morning Megan and Taco,

Circling back to our conversation last week. After looking over the Treasury guidance sent from David on Tuesday, it certainly appears that public safety (including sheriff, fire and EMS) personnel costs are reimbursable with no required documentation of 'substantial dedication'. Obviously, this could be a significant issue for Counties having difficulty disbursing their entire CARES allocation.

Let me know if you'd like to set up a call to further discuss the issue.
