Gregory B. Morrison

Greg is the retired Senior Vice President and Corporate Chief Information Officer for Cox Enterprises, Inc. Cox Enterprises is a leading communications, media and automotive services company with revenues exceeding $22 billion and approximately 60,000 employees. For eighteen years as CIO of Cox Enterprises, Greg was responsible for delivering all information technology and cyber security solutions. He is known for authorship of large-scale business transformations, key technology deployments that accelerate the digitization of manual business processes, a commitment to career path modeling of IT professional and his passion for diverse leadership teams. He was named among the industry's top performing CIOs who have shown unparalleled leadership to drive innovation and transformation in their businesses.

Currently, Greg serves on the corporate board of directors of Veritex Holdings, a Nasdaq listed bank holding company: VBTX (member of Audit, IT, and Risk Committees) and IEWC Global Solutions, an international distributor and solutions provider for wire, cable and wire management products. He serves on the Global Advisory Board of Tricentis, a software test automation company based in Vienna, Austria. Greg is a former corporate board director for nuBridges, Inc., Scentric, Inc., and Florida First Coast Business Investment Corporation.

Greg has more than 30 years of experience as a corporate CIO influencing the technology direction of organizations. Prior to Cox, he served as Vice President and CIO at Prudential Financial, Inc. During his tenure at Prudential, Greg was stationed in Tokyo, Japan where he led the due diligence team for acquisition of the tenth largest Japanese life insurance company with 10,000 employees, $4 billion in revenue, $30 billion in assets and over 3 million customers. In 2000 he left Prudential to become Executive Vice President and Chief Operating Officer for RealEstate.com, a B2B ecommerce internet company. As the chief operating officer at RE.com, Greg managed all aspects of the day-to-day operations. In this fast-paced technology company he created an organizational culture that ensured the highest possible levels of service during an explosive growth period. He provided leadership to a startup organization and developed a consistent and reliable platform for the delivery of integrated e-commerce systems.

Greg has received numerous awards and has been widely recognized in business magazines. He was named one of US Black Engineer Magazine's Most Important Blacks in Technology for nine consecutive years from 2005-2013, as well as Computerworld Magazine's Premier 100 IT Leaders. He is listed by Black Enterprises as one of 300 Most Powerful Executives in Corporate America and Savory Magazine's named him one of the Most Influential Blacks in Corporate America. Morrison received the Epsilon Award for Lifetime Career Achievement from the National Black Data Processing Associates (BDPA) organization. He was named an ITSMF Fellow for his insight and contributions to the technology industry as a whole. He was inducted in the CIO Hall of Fame by CIO.com for his demonstrated substantial business impact and technology vision. He was selected to receive the 2020 Georgia CIO Lifetime Achievement ORBIE Award for significant contributions to the business and technology communities. Business to Business Magazine named him an IMPACT Leader for his commitment to the community, and he was inducted into the Public Education Foundation of North Carolina Hall of Fame.

Greg is an active leader in business, academic and civic communities. Greg served on the United States Golf Association's Executive Committee, the Association's executive policy-making board. During his tenure he chaired the Equipment Standards and Compensation committees. In addition to USGA, Greg served on board of directors for Piedmont Healthcare System, Inc. a $5B multi-hospital company (member of Audit and Quality Committees); PHOG, Inc., a $40M skilled nursing and retiree continuing care company. He also served on Emory University's Board of Visitors, Georgia Institute of Technology College of Management Advisory Board, and the CIO Advisory Boards of Oracle, Intel, Apptio, BMC, Sierra Ventures, and Sprint. Greg currently chairs the Clark Atlanta University Board of Trustees.

Greg spent eight years in the United States Army as a commissioned officer. He earned a bachelor's degree in science from South Carolina State University and a master's degree in science from Northwestern University. He is also a graduate of the Kellogg School of Management Minority Director Development Training Program at Northwestern University.
